SALVATION ARMY DRIVE CONTINUED UNTIL JULY 10th

Mason County Is Yet Far Behind in Her Apportionment and Must Come Up Within the Week Left in Campaign.

Mr. Alfred Peed who is chairman of the Salvation Army drive in Mason county, today received a communication from state headquarters in Lexington informing him that the campaign had been continued for another week or until July 10 because in many sections of the state the workers had been unable to visit all of the people in their neighborhoods as wheat harvest has been on in full blast.

This is true in Mason county. Wheat harvest has been on in full blast throughout the county all this week and the latter part of last week and for this reason the predest workers here have been greatly hampered, however during the week the county's subscription has been materially increased. Mr. Peed has not received reports from all of his predest workers but he says that the county is still far short of their quota.

During the week that is now left Mr. Peed is urging all of his workers to do their best toward reaching the quota. Folks who have not yet contributed to the Salvation Army fund should assist the workers by calling them by telephone and making their subscription.

NO LEDGER TOMORROW

In order that the members of the Public Ledger force may celebrate the Fourth of July as a holiday there will be no edition published tomorrow.

WELCOME HOME TO OUR BOYS IS SPIRIT MANIFEST IN CITY

Great Welcome Is Extended to All Soldiers and Sailors—Biggest Celebration City and County Has Known Promised—Novices to Be Taken.

LINE OF MARCH OF BIG PARADE

Bridge to Wall on Third Over Wall to Second East on Second to Market South on Market to Third East on Third to Bridge North on Bridge to Second East on Second to Beechwood

All plans are now complete for the big Fourth of July welcome to the soldiers and sailors of Mason county to be held here on the Fourth of July. No trouble or expense has been spared to make the celebration show the gratitude of the people for the soldiers and sailors service and to show them how proud the county is of the splendid record they have made.

The force of the Mayville Telephone Company Thursday morning strung across the main streets large banners bearing the words: "Welcome To Our Boys" while the business men began the decorating of their places of business and citizens began to hang out flags on their residences. It is thought that Mayville will be in gala attire by noon on the Fourth and that the men in khaki will be able to see the spirit of the big celebration.

The program as published in yesterday's Public Ledger will be carried out in all its details and the big celebration will be on when the monster automobile parade leaves Bridge and Third streets promptly at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. All along the line of march the streets are expected to be crowded by the people coming to town for the day and immediately upon the parade reaching Beechwood park the festivities will begin at that place and will continue without a dull moment until early the next morning.

Arrangements have been made by the management of the Washington and Gem theaters to have two moving picture men in Mayville for the day to take movies of the county's biggest celebration. The parade will be pictured as well as the crowds and stunts at the park and after development these popular show houses. Everyone wants to be certain to get in the movies and then see themselves through the machine at the theater in a few weeks.

The uniforms promised the Mayville Boys' Band for the Fourth of July arrived this morning and the band will make its first appearance in uniform in the big parade. The youngsters have been practicing on the march and will march in the parade instead of being hauled in automobiles as was at first planned.

No detail of the big celebration has been overlooked by the various committees and everything is ready to move off smoothly during the entire day.

Although the celebration proper does not begin until after the hour, it is expected that the country people will begin coming to town in the morning and it is expected that the city will be filled to overflowing by noon.

Every person coming is urged to bring a basket lunch. The baskets will be checked free at the park and will be kept carefully until time for the evening meal. Every one is urged to make use of the checking room as it is being furnished at some expense to the committee.

Everyone will want to stay until after the firing of the fireworks which will take place between 9 and 10 o'clock at Beechwood for the white people and at the foot of Commerce street for the colored.

The big parade will be formed in five divisions as follows:

Division A—For decorated cars only form line on Bridge street. C. T. Brown in charge.

Division B—Forms line on Plum street. H. P. Purnell in charge.

Division C—Forms on Fourth between Plum and Limestone. C. W. Brown in charge.

Division D—Forms on Upper Limestone. T. M. Russell in charge.

Division E—Forms on Lower Limestone. Chief H. A. Ort in charge.

All participants are supposed to report in line on or before 1 o'clock.

NOTICE SAILORS!

The uniform for July 4th will be whites without leggings. Every one is urged to be on band in uniform at the Washington Opera House promptly at one o'clock.

BRACKEN COUNTY ATTORNEY MAKING AN INVESTIGATION

Mysterious Death of Mike Flannery at Brooksville Is Generally Thought to Have Been Murder—Authorities Investigating.

County Attorney Baxter Hamilton, of Bracken county, assisted by the other officials of that county, is making a very careful investigation of the sudden and mysterious death of Mike Flannery at Brooksville Sunday morning. The general opinion of the people throughout that section is that young Flannery was murdered by someone but who that someone was is the big question that now faces County Attorney Hamilton and Prosecutor Granlin.

Officials say that the case will be thoroughly investigated between now and August when Judge Newell will hold a special term of the Bracken Circuit Court to take up matters that could not be disposed of during the regular term just adjourned because of health conditions in Bracken county.

All of the young men who were riding with young Flannery on Saturday night are being held for Grand Jury investigation and an effort will be made in the next few weeks to gather evidence enough to place the blame for the supposed murder.

MOUTH HIGHWAY

The Ripley Bee says: Representative Charles Gordon of Georgetown, and Mr. Lilly from the State Highway Department, were in Ripley, Friday, in the interest of our turnpikes. Mr. Lilly informed us that the new piece of pike from Ripley to Red Oak would be resurfaced and a new bridge built. The slip near Coslett's will be rebuilt and put in good condition.

Also in talking with Mr. Gordon he assured us that a National Market road would be built from Cincinnati to Portsmouth along the Ohio River. The new road law also allows the people to vote in November for an additional levy for road purposes. We have not seen a copy of the law, but hope to get one soon when we will give more particulars.

OUR POLICY

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the County as a whole.

DR. W. S. YAZELL FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Dr. W. S. Yazell, who will be the Republican candidate for Representative at the November election, is a high-class man well qualified for the office to which he aspires. Dr. Yazell is old enough and experienced enough in public affairs to represent Mason county at Frankfort as the county should be represented. He is progressive in his ideas and yet conservative in legislative matters.

There are few men in the county who has a more general acquaintance with Mason county people. He has long been one of the city's most popular physicians and in a professional way he has visited a great number of homes.

Dr. Yazell has made a wonderful success, climbing from a small practice as a young man, first coming to Maysville, to one of the largest practices of any physician in this entire section.

His general ability, his experience in matters of importance and his own personal success make him a splendid candidate who will be supported by the people of Mason County and elected to represent our county at Frankfort in November.

"THE STARS AND STRIPES" PASSES

Few there can be in the United States who have not heard of the A. E. F. newspaper, The Stars and Stripes; but many there must be who do not know that the managing editor remained content to be a private in the United States army and resolutely refused a commission, says the Christian Science Monitor.

Formerly a newspaper reporter, Private Harold W. Ross had opportunity to be sent to an officers' training school in France, but preferred to join the staff of the A. E. F. newspaper, then in its very beginning. He became, before long, managing editor, and so important was the part that the paper played in the life of the American forces in France that he was asked if his work could not be done to better advantage if he became a commissioned officer; to which he answered that even a corporal's chevrons would embarrass him. It has been said that no man had greater influence upon the thought of the A. E. F. than he, for The Stars and Stripes grew, within a year, to a circulation of about half a million, and became one of the most widely read journals in the world.

PROTECTING HOMES

Chicago is asking the Illinois legislature for a zoning law—a law that will permit cities in Illinois to say what part shall be reserved for residence purposes. This is a thing that every city in the country has some interest in because it is a step in the right direction. There must be factory and commercial districts, of course, and there must also be residence districts. But is it fair to a man who has developed a residence property, beautified the grounds, and arranged the house to suit him to have, all of a sudden, some sort of business concern established next door to the detriment of his home. Every city in the country has numerous examples of just that sort of thing. Restricting residence property is going to become more and more the thing as the years go by. We have a few districts in Davenport that are thus protected, but there are many other districts where the people who own homes have no protection at all from the possibility of undesirable construction and business enterprises on the lots next door.—Davenport Times.

WHERE CANNONS AND GUNS ARE ROARING

(Dedicated to the memory of our Americans heroes buried in France.)

Our country's call for boys brave and true,
To defend our flag the red, white and blue,
Was answered by many a loyal young man
Whose motto was "I'll serve the flag if I can"
In khaki they dressed these boys brave
Who gladly their country would save
And then sent them over the sea
To fight for our country and me.

Where cannons and guns are roaring
Many nations flags are soaring
Above the battle field
Mid the flags far across the sea
The Stars and Stripes for me
Your country's flag boys shield
The boys in khaki so brave and true
Are fighting for the red, white and blue.

Farewell to mother and friends they said
In trenches and dugouts, French soil we tread
In the gray mist of morn a battle begun
At the close of the day a great victory they'd won
A general and comrades of a brave deed tell
How a young hero in khaki fought and fell
In the fierce battle fought his young life he gave
For the country and the flag he so gallantly saved.

Clausing the shot and shell pierced flag sadly they said,
That eve we found him on the battle field dead.
Silently they wrapped him in the flag he had saved
Then laid him in France in his grave
The French soldiers said all honor

STOMACH TROUBLE

Mr. Marlon Holcomb, of Naucy, Ky., says: "For quite a long while I suffered with stomach trouble. I would have pains and a heavy feeling after my meals, a most disagreeable taste in my mouth. If I ate anything with butter, oil or grease, I would spit it up. I began to have regular sick headache. I had used pills and tablets, but after a course of these, I would be constipated. It just seemed to tear my stomach all up. I found they were no good at all for my trouble. I heard

The Stories The Dewdrops Told.

XII. DOLLY MEETS AN OLD FRIEND

"Oh, I am so glad to see you again," cried Dolly. There on the vine stood the very same Fairy who had first taught the little girl to look into the magic dewdrops. She was just as lovely as before, and she held her little watering pot in her tiny hand. She smiled at Dolly and said:

"Have you been pleased with all the things you have seen?"

"Oh, yes, indeed. I never had such a good time in all my life. I have seen the most beautiful pictures and heard so many things about the vegetables and the plants and how to put things into the ground and why they are there and everything," said the little girl all in one breath.

"Let me show you something in my dewdrop this morning that is different from anything you have seen," said the Fairy.

You can guess that Dolly did not wait to be asked twice.

What she saw surprised her very much. It was a kind of house, but such a tumble-down looking house. Loose and broken stones were piled about, and on top of them were some rough boards. It looked as though it might be some kind of a stable. But no really nice horse would have looked to live in it. Dolly couldn't think what it could be for, but soon she saw some smoke coming out of a hole in the boards. She wondered if people could be in such a rough place.

She had not noticed something like a rude door in the side, until it opened. A little girl came out. She looked very pale and thin. Her clothes were very poor. She walked out in front of the cabin and looked down what might have been a street once. Dolly saw that, all along the way, were other cabins as rough and poor looking as this. Then she began to see that these piles of stones had once been houses. They had all been thrown down.

"Why, what happened to knock down all these houses?" said Dolly.

"They were knocked down by big guns," said the Fairy. "This was a pretty village once and all the people had plenty to eat and wear. Then some wicked men came and fired their guns at the houses and those piles of stone are all that is left. They even cut down all the trees so that the people here could not have any fruit if they should ever come home."

Dolly saw many broken tree-stumps. It had once been a fine orchard full of apples and quinces. Now every tree had been killed. Some of them were still lying where they had fallen.

"For more than four years," said the Fairy, "the men of this village had to go away and fight. Now that they can come home, their trees are dead, their fields torn up by bombs and shots, and their houses torn down. But look—"

The man was walking alone. He was leading a little donkey hitched to a cart. The little girl ran to meet the man and he lifted her up and kissed her.

"Did you get the things, my father?" said the little girl.

"Yes! dear Merle," said the man. "See what the good Americans have sent to us." He took a bag out of the cart, and opened it.

"Oh, potatoes—potatoes!" cried little Merle (only she called them "pomme de terre," or "earth apples.") "I have not had a potato for so long. I am so glad. What else did the good Americans send us?"

"This," said her father. He opened another bag and took out a handful of corn.

"See, here is good seed corn that I can plant and raise a new crop so that we may have plenty of meat and corn." (He called the corn blue—which sounded like "blay.")

"And here," he went on, "are beans and peas—all good things to plant so that we may not starve." (The beans he called "haricots" and the peas "petits pois.") "You see, little daughter, over there in America many, many people are raising these things for us. Even the little girls and boys, so they tell me, are helping. I wish they could see you now—how thin are your poor little cheeks, and how ragged your dress—you who were so rosy and plump before I had to go away in the army. If they could see you and know that you will have good food to get strong again, I am sure it would make them very happy to think they are doing so much good."

"I see you—I see you," shouted Dolly, forgetting all about the dewdrops, and jumping about so that she hit the leaf. The dewdrop rolled off on the ground and went all to pieces.

"Never mind," said the Fairy. "The dewdrop has done something for you. It has showed you your poor little French sister, who will not have to go hungry any more."

"I'm awful sorry I broke your dewdrop," said Dolly, "but oh! I'm so glad we can feed the poor hungry children over there. I do think a garden is the nicest thing in all the world."

HOW MANY WOMEN DO YOU KNOW

Who can say they are perfectly well? "I am tired all the time," "I am so nervous it seems as though I should fly," "I can hardly drag around today," and all such expressions are characteristic of women who have overtaxed their strength until headaches, backache, nervousness, dragging-down pains, irregularities and the blues, symptoms of a female weakness, have developed. Women who are in this condition may rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore them to health and strength.

The food shortage abroad will be greater than ever next year, reports Frank A. Vanderlip, after a three months' economic inspection of Europe. This is because lack of seed, work animals and machinery makes it impossible for Russia, Rumania, Poland and other countries to raise enough grain to export. The American Red Cross will carry on in its work of feeding starving thousands.

LEXINGTON OIL MEN ARRESTED ON FRAUD CHARGE

Prominently Known Oil Men Are Arrested on Charge of Conspiracy in Stock Sales—Released on Bond.

Four oil men prominently identified with the development of the industry in Eastern Kentucky, were arrested Tuesday night shortly before 8 o'clock at Lexington by federal authorities on charges of practicing fraud through the sales of oil stocks.

Those arrested were C. W. Whit, of Estill county, president of the Oil Field Development Company; Samuel A. Hole, of Estill county, president of the High Gravity Oil Company; W. B. Williams, of Lexington, director in the Oil Field Development Company and former treasurer of the High Gravity Company, and C. D. Pratt, of Lexington, secretary and director of both companies.

The warrant charges the men with "conspiring together with Alexander Sach (deceased) to defraud by sales of oil stocks."

All the men were taken before United States Commissioner S. S. Yantis, who released them on a joint bond of $5,000, which was signed by W. W. Estill.

EVIDENCE THAT CONVINCES

A Twice-Told Tale That Will Carry Conviction to Ledger Readers.

Fourteen years ago, Mrs. Burns publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills.

She then told of benefit she had received. With unshaken confidence, she confirms her statement—Tells how passing years have strengthened her faith in Doan's.

"There's no better test than the test of time."

Can any Maysville reader ask for more convincing evidence? Mrs. John Burns, West Second Street, says: "I was subject to severe spells of backache and other kidney trouble. They would come on every three or six months and there were times when I was confined to bed and rendered helpless. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and the quick and decided benefit I received from Doan's Kidney Pills was wonderful. I have never had such severe attacks since." (Statement given February 13, 1914.)

NO TROUBLE SINCE
On November 15, 1914, Mrs. Burns said: "I have the same good words of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills today as ever. I have not needed a kidney medicine since I first took them."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the name that Mrs. Burns had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Why Central Can Not Answer Questions

The duty of the switchboard operator is to answer your number calls and get connections for you.

If she stopped to answer questions, the number of calls would pile up and the service would be delayed; this would be an injustice to the other subscribers.

When in response to a question, the operator says: "I will give you Chief Operator", she is obeying her instruction.

If you cannot find what you want in the telephone directory, ask the operator for "Chief Operator" and she will connect you with the "Chief Operator" where your questions will be promptly answered.
